Reveal New Military Manpower Program

Would Mean Reduction Of Active Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department Friday laid down its new manpower proposal designed to build up a reserve of five million fighting men, most of them ready to go into battle if called.

In doing so, it disclosed that the active armed forces may be reduced about 468,000 from present strength to 2,700,000 by June 1959. This would be a considerably larger cutback than has been indicated heretofore.

Under one feature of the reserve plan, 100,000 or so young men under 19 could take six months of active service and then go into the reserves for 9½ years.

But those who would be accepted as volunteers for this short term of active duty would definitely have to keep up their reserve training of drills, summer camp, etc. If they failed to, they would be subject to the draft, which would be continued as it is now, and have to complete the usual two-year term of active duty.

Under present reserve requirements, over half of the country's three million reservists are not taking any training. They are not regarded as ready for a call to active duty, should one come. The plan unfolded today would require all, except those in a standby reserve, to train.

During a Pentagon news conference discussion of the reserve program, reporters noticed that a column showing armed forces strength appeared to end at a point between 2,700,000 and 2,800,000.

Carl L. Burgess, assistant secretary for manpower, told questioners, "That generally indicates strength of active forces in '59." Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson broke in to say that the figure was not yet entirely firm, that, "We are attempting to firm up right now what this figure would be if we get this program."

The new reserve program is being advanced with the argument, among others, that it would permit a smaller active duty strength. The plan aims at providing a five million man reserve by 1959. This would be made up of three (Continued on Page Thirteen)

Democrats To Meet To Pick Candidate For Court Justice

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Democratic delegates from 12 northern Illinois counties will meet Saturday afternoon in Rockford to select a candidate for Supreme Court Justice of the 6th District.

He will oppose Charles H. Davis, 48, a Rockford attorney who was chosen at 5:30 a.m. Friday as Republican nominee after an all-night convention session.

Two attorneys—John T. Vincent, Aurora, and Edward Sullivan, Freeport—were understood to stand high in Democratic consideration for the nomination, although neither has announced his candidacy.

The judicial election will be held Feb. 28 to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Justice William J. Fulton, Sycamore Republican. The term expires in 1960. The district is traditionally Republican.

Davis has no judicial experience. He won over six circuit judges, a county judge and another attorney. The final selection was approved unanimously on the 33rd ballot on a motion by Circuit Judge Harry C. Daniels of Elgin who had been a strong contender throughout the running and held the lead on 21 ballots.

'HONEST JOHN'S' ARRIVE IN EUROPE

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Several batteries of the new American long-range rocket Honest John, capable of carrying atomic warheads, have arrived in Europe U.S. 7th Army headquarters announced Friday night.

The number of the batteries and their destination was not disclosed but it was believed they would be stationed in the big Allied defense arsenal west of the Rhine River.

The Honest John consists of a rocket weighing several tons and a mobile self-propelled launcher. A free flight rocket—as distinguished from a guided missile—it is to provide fire support in ground combat operations.

Hammarskjold, Chou Will Meet In Peiping

UNITED NATIONS N. Y. (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold agreed Friday to direct talks in Peiping with Red China's Chou En-lai on "pertinent questions." He will urge Chou to release 11 American aviators held by Communist China as spies.

Hammarskjold suggested the face-to-face conference last Friday after the U. N. Assembly voted 47-5 for him to use "unremitting efforts" to effect the release of the aviators and the repatriation of hundreds of U. N. personnel still held in China.

In his reply Friday morning, the Chinese Communist Premier said the Peiping position on the aviators had been set forth in a cable to Hammarskjold which indicated Chou regards the case as closed. Then Chou added:

"In the interest of peace and relaxation of international tension, I am prepared to receive you in our capital, Peiping, to discuss with you pertinent questions. We welcome you to China. Please decide for yourself the date of your visit and inform us of your decision."

Hammarskjold quickly replied: "I look forward to the opportunity of meeting you. In view of necessary practical arrangements, I am not yet in a position to fix a date for the arrival nor can I say definitely who will come with me. I may get an opportunity for first contact concerning some of these practical arrangements with your ambassador in Stockholm."

Brig. Gen. John R. Burns said he based his decision on a morning talk with the 24-year-old soldier from Ridgewood, N. J., and mechanical engineering graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Burns said the discussion convinced him Wallace "was very sorry for his oversight."

"With no evidence of disloyalty and the man's promise to be a better soldier in the future," said Burns, "I have decided to limit my action to an official reprimand."

The court-martial recommendation came after 1st Lt. Carl L. Teshman, Wallace's company commander, expressed dissatisfaction with the soldier's original explanation for failing to salute the Stars and Stripes last Nov. 3.

Young Jap With 'Life For Sale' Sign Gets Job

TOKYO (Saturday) (AP)—The young Japanese on the bridge with his life for sale is gone. He got a job.

Three days on the bridge in downtown Tokyo with a sign saying "This Life For Sale," 22, jobless and up to his ears in debt.

Saturday he begins work at a rubber company. An executive who saw him standing on the bridge came through with a promised job.

Horita doesn't even know what his wages will be. He doesn't know how it will be arranged to get the $95 he needs to pay his debts and help a tubercular brother.

"They treated me so wonderfully, like a gentleman, that I didn't ask about that," the happy, smiling Horita said.

He accepted the rubber company job before hearing of several offers of gifts and jobs from persons in the United States.

"I want to thank those kind persons in America. It was very good of them," he said.

Soviet Tries To Halt German Rearming With Note Barrage

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union, in a series of notes Friday night upbraided seven or more governments that turned down invitations to Moscow's Nov. 29 conference on European security. The Moscow government accused them of supporting the "dangerous remilitarization of Germany."

The embassies or legations of Belgium, Denmark, the Netherlands, Italy, Yugoslavia, Switzerland and Finland said they had received the Soviet communications.

Turkey and Greece were believed also to have been on the list of recipients.

This barrage of angry diplomatic notes was the latest in an offensive apparently related to the Paris treaties by which the West is preparing to rearm Western Germany and take it into NATO, the North Atlantic Alliance.

On Thursday, the Soviet government warned Paris that ratification of the German rearmament agreements would "cross out and annul" the 20-year French-Soviet mutual assistance treaty of 1944.

Earlier Friday Moscow announced that Britain also had been warned against actions that were "incompatible" with the 1942 Soviet-British treaty of alliance.

Snow, Winds, Rain Sweep Nation. More Of Same Predicted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow, rain and high winds hit broad areas of the United States Friday.

A storm that was centered in northeastern Illinois in the afternoon sprayed snow over most of Michigan and Wisconsin. Snow also fell in eastern Iowa, northern Illinois and northern Indiana.

Fresh snow measured four inches at Valparaiso, Ind., three inches at Rockford, Ill., and South Bend, Ind., and two inches at Grand Rapids and Cadillac, Mich.

More snow was forecast. Rain was reported over most of the Ohio Valley and in a band which stretched southward to the Gulf Coast.

Blowing dust was reported in western Nebraska, eastern Colorado and eastern New Mexico. Wind velocities of 50 mph. with gusts up to 65 mph. were reported at Cheyenne, Wyo.

Early afternoon temperatures included: Boston 35, Atlanta 55, Chicago 35, Duluth 27, Indianapolis 45, Denver 40, San Antonio 56, Spokane 25, Salt Lake City 32 and Pocatello, Idaho, 11.

Report Airmen To Be Freed When U.S. Changes Policy

OTTAWA (AP)—American airmen being held prisoner by the Chinese Reds are being told they will be released "when U.S. policy toward China is right," a Royal Canadian Air Force officer said Friday.

Squadron Leader Andrew B. (Andy) MacKenzie, 34, who was released by the Chinese Communists at Hong Kong 12 days ago, was in a prison at Mukden in Manchuria with three American airmen and in correspondence with a fourth. All were shot down during the Korean War and held on charges that they violated Chinese air space.

MacKenzie, appearing at a news conference, said the Chinese Reds cited the U. S. attitude toward Formosa, opposition to admission to United Nations and the detention of Chinese students in the United States as distasteful to Peiping.

MacKenzie, shot down in December 1952, was in communication with Lt. Col. Edwin Heller of Wynnewood, Pa., a World War II ace shot down in Korea in January 1953. The Canadian was in the prison with three other Americans—Lt. Roland Parks of Omaha, Neb., shot down Oct. 25, 1952; Lt. Lyle Cameron of Lincoln, Neb., shot down Nov. 25, 1952; and Capt. Harold Fischer of Svea City, Iowa, shot down April 6, 1953.

MacKenzie said Heller was injured severely when his plane was hit by MIG cannon fire only a day after he had destroyed two Red jets and won a promotion from major. MacKenzie said he was informed by Heller that the American underwent four bone grafts and the last was successful "as far as we know."

Heller was given every medical attention, MacKenzie said. The three other Americans were in "very good" condition when he left them, MacKenzie added.

Plan New Course Of Medication For Pope Pius XII

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII will be given a new course of medication and nourishment in an intensified effort to cure him of the grave ailment that earlier this month endangered his life.

His private physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi and consultant specialists finished, at 5 p.m., the second of two long conferences held Friday to determine the exact nature of the treatment. It will be aimed especially at building up the strength of the 78-year-old leader of the Roman Catholic Church, whose ailment has twice confined him to bed in 1954.

The conferences followed Thursday's exhaustive exploratory X-rays, which disclosed the pontiff is suffering from a small hernia of the esophagus, near where it joins the stomach, and also from gastritis, which is inflammation of the stomach.

Dr. Galeazzi-Lisi said the Pope continues to be quite weak. The Vatican press office announced Friday night "a slight improvement in the Pope's condition was noted late in the day."

15 DIE IN ALGERIAN WRECK
ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Fifteen passengers died—most of them as screaming human torches—in the head-on collision of an interurban rail coach and a troop train in southeastern Algeria Friday.

French officials said the wreck apparently resulted from negligence at a switching station.

Canadian Airliner Crashes, Eight Of 23 Injured

BRAMPTON, Ont. (AP)—A Trans-Canada airliner bound from Tampa, Fla., to Toronto crashed in wintry fog and rain and burned on a field near here Friday night.

Brampton Hospital said about eight persons had been taken there for treatment of injuries received in the crash.

Police estimated there were 50 persons aboard the big four-engine Super Constellation. But TCA officials said they estimated there were 16 passengers and seven crew members, and late tonight said these figures appeared to be accurate. TCA had said earlier its figures were subject to correction.

TCA also said there appeared to have been a few injured but did not say how many. Police reported one man, believed to be a crew member, was removed from the crash scene on a stretcher.

TCA officials said the crash was about seven miles from Toronto's Malton Airport.

The Ontario provincial police reported the Super Constellation was burning so fiercely that no one could approach the wreckage.

The flight supervisor at Malton Airport said the plane had been unreported for a short time before the crash. It was raining lightly over the area.

TCA officials in Toronto said "our information at the moment is that nobody was killed."

First reports were meager because of communications difficulties.

Sheppard Jury Deadlocked More Than 12 Hours

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard's first degree murder jury was deadlocked for more than 12 hours Friday before it was sent to bed, his life still hanging in the balance.

A decision on his guilt or innocence in the July 4 slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, was put off at least until 9:15 a.m. (EST) Saturday when the jury will resume deliberations.

The jury was sent to a Cleveland hotel at 10:39 p.m.—12 hours and 26 minutes after it began its deliberations.

The seven men and five women on the panel got the case at 10:13 a.m. after nine court weeks—61 calendar days—of trial. Testimony ran over 1,115,000 words.

At 5:45 p.m. the jurors went to supper at a downtown hotel, instructed to return about 7 o'clock. At that time they had spent a total of 5 hours and 53 minutes in actual deliberations.

In a 38-minute charge to the jury, Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin outlined five possible verdicts and their maximum penalties: guilty of first degree murder without mercy, death; guilty of first degree murder with mercy, life imprisonment; guilty of second degree murder, life with parole possible in 10 years; guilty of manslaughter, 1-to-20 years, and innocent.

If the jury convicted the osteopath of first degree murder and recommended mercy, the case would come up for review in 20 years. The governor of Ohio could then commute such a sentence, making the convicted person eligible for parole.

Moments after he finished his charge and sent the jury to its deliberations, Judge Blythin's courtroom was all but deserted for the first court day since the trial began Oct. 18.

AFTERSHOCKS FOLLOW QUAKE
PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Experts at the California Institute of Technology report that aftershocks from Thursday's five-state earthquake continued Friday.

The quake Thursday, centered near Fallon, Nev., was between 7.2 and 7.4 in intensity. Dr. Charles F. Richter reported. He said this was enough to put it in the category of a major earthquake. Aftershocks Friday ranged from small to moderate, Dr. Richter said.

Six Children Perish In Fires In Homes

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Dwelling fires killed six children in Illinois Friday.

The dead: Russell Wasser, 2, and his sister, Patricia, 1, of Urbana; Nettie Usrey, 4, and her sister, Leitha Rae, 2, of Smithfield; Robert Denlinger, 17, and his brother, William, 14, of Northlake.

The Wasser children perished in a flaming house trailer as the family was spending its last day in the mobile shelter.

Their father, Sgt. Edgar Wasser, an airman at the Chamute Air Force Base in Ramoth, told the Champaign County Coroner he previously had sold the trailer and the family was moving out Friday night.

The trailer caught fire from an oil heater while the children's mother was away for a few minutes to make a telephone call.

Other residents of the trailer park made desperate efforts to rescue the babies but were unsuccessful.

The Wassers formerly lived in Brownstown near Vandalia.

The Usrey girls succumbed despite their mother's heroic dash into their burning farm tenant house to carry them out. Mrs. Mildred Usrey drove 16 miles from near Smithfield to Canton but the girls were pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

Doctors said the children died of asphyxiation. Two other Usrey children escaped the tragedy. One was at school and another was visiting at Bushnell, Ill.

Mrs. Usrey was working in the kitchen of a nearby home when smoke began escaping from the Usrey house.

The Denlinger brothers died in a fire that destroyed a two-story saloon and apartment building in Northlake, a Chicago suburb.

The flames burned out the tavern and the Denlinger apartment above it.

Their father, operator of the saloon, escaped injury by jumping from a second floor window. His wife was burned and cut in her flight downstairs and out a first floor window.

Gibbs Of Quincy Pleads Guilty Of Tax Evasion

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—William F. Gibbs of Quincy, former Illinois legislator, pleaded guilty Friday to evading $807 in federal income taxes and was fined $1,500.

Government attorneys said the income tax charge stemmed from a case involving Gibbs and state payroll irregularities between 1943 and 1949. Gibbs pleaded guilty last June in Circuit Court to grand larceny of state money and was placed on probation for five years.

Federal Judge Charles G. Grigie gave the 58-year-old former Democratic legislator until next April 1 to pay the $1,500 fine plus $1,347 in back taxes and penalties.

U.S. Atty. John Stoddard said Gibbs was indicted on the state charge because "he received some $15,000 to $18,000 paid to three fictitious employees and he reaped the benefits."

Farmers Grow Fifth Largest Volume Of Crops In 1954

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers produced the fifth largest volume of crops on record this year and only 3 per cent less than last year's big harvest despite restrictions of federal crop controls and damage caused by severe drought.

This summary of farm production was given by the Agriculture Department Friday in its final 1954 crop report.

The acreage harvested was the second smallest since 1941—a fact that made the crop volume stand out as testimony to farm achievements in recent years in increasing acreage yields through greater use of fertilizer, better crop practices, machinery and better seed.

Because of the accumulation of surpluses from past crops, rigid federal production restrictions had been imposed on wheat, cotton, tobacco, peanuts and somewhat less rigid restrictions on corn.

Furthermore, a drought in the South and Southwest seriously affected many crops.

The department said the total crop volume was 100 per cent of the big 1947-49 postwar average compared with 103 per cent last year and the record of 106 per cent in 1948.

Discounts Peace At Any Price

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, making a last-minute change in a Christmas message to the world, Friday challenged the stand taken by nations who stay neutral in the right struggle with communism.

"The times are so critical and the difference between these world systems totalitarianism and freedom are so vital," he said, "that grave doubt is cast on the validity of neutralistic argument."

At the same time, he said, the United States will respect the right of self-decision by neutrals.

His challenge to neutralism appeared beamed at countries like Nehru's India, and possibly to neutralistic sentiment in Europe, but he named no country, and the White House declined to elaborate.

Lighting a huge Christmas Tree near the White House, the President also sounded again the theme that ways may be found for the Free World to live peacefully with global communism.

He declared that foes of the Free World know, "as well as we," that the world is large enough and the skills of man great enough to house mankind in peace.

This knowledge, he said, "can be the fruitful beginning of prosperous life together."

But he also added: "Let no man think that we want peace at any price; that we shall forsake principle in resigned tolerance of obvious evil; that we may pawn our honor for transitory concession."

The President's speech was distributed to newsmen several hours in advance. Shortly before delivery, the White House issued the following substitute for a paragraph in the speech:

"There are some who have believed it possible and desirable to hold themselves aloof from today's world-wide struggle between those who uphold government based upon freedom and dignity, and those who consider man merely a pawn of the state. The times are so critical and the difference between (Continued on Page 13)

Higgins, Corcoran Convicted Of Bank Holdup At Sandoval

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—A U.S. District Court jury Friday convicted William C. Higgins and Truman Corcoran, former cellmates at a federal prison, of the $11,561 holdup of the First National Bank of Sandoval, Ill., Oct. 21.

The jury deliberated only two hours. Federal Judge Fred L. Whelan did not immediately set a date for sentencing. Higgins, 35, an advertising salesman of Trenton, Ill., and Corcoran, 30, a welder of Grand Rapids, Mich., were returned to the St. Louis Jail. They had been held there since their arrest at a Sandoval tavern soon after the robbery.

They face possible maximum sentences of 25 years each.

Higgins took the stand to deny that he had a part in the holdup. Corcoran did not testify.

Jack Morris, assistant U.S. attorney, pointed out in his closing argument that three witnesses had identified Higgins and that the money taken in the holdup was found in his Cadillac car at the time of his arrest.

ROLLS INCREASE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Illinois poor relief rolls increased by 1,635 persons to a total of 84,251 in October, the Illinois Public Aid Commission said Friday.

The total was 60 per cent above a year ago. Expenditures amounted to $2,978,694, an increase of $143,877 over the previous month and $1,048,244 over October 1953.

Recipients of help in all five programs of the commission increased during October to 272,509 persons and expenditures rose to $11,887,726.

MCCARTHY'S FUTURE

Where does Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy go, now that he has openly shattered all ties with a President of his own party?

The courses available to him would appear to be several:

1. He could help to form or take part in a third political party. The senator says at the "present time" he has no such thought, but he has not quite closed the door.
2. He might try to lead or participate in a right-wing move to seize control of the Republican Party from Mr. Eisenhower, with the specific aim of denying him the GOP presidential nomination in 1956. McCarthy's statement that he will go on working within the party—at least for now—is not a clear indication of intent with respect to party control.

3. He might seek to build for himself a sort of solitary citadel of individual political power, counting upon his considerable popular following to assure him the strength for continued political existence.

As the President noted in commenting on the break, the third-party road is a hard one to travel. The forces McCarthy represents are a minority in a party that is now the minority party in the nation. Faced with the decision to leave the GOP fold and follow the senator to new fields, some of his supporters might well say no.

The history of third parties in America is not encouraging. What could a new one thus composed hope to achieve? Most likely not its own success, but the defeat of the Republican Party at the polls in 1956.

Certainly that defeat would not necessarily follow, for in 1948 the Democrats survived both the Wallace and Dixiecrat defections to keep the presidency and regain the Congress.

As for McCarthy and others attempting to seize the GOP reins and push the President out, this, too, is not an easy path.

The Democrats, who want very much to get the White House in 1956, nevertheless show a very cagey respect for Mr. Eisenhower's high stature with the American people. One cannot help wondering how many Republicans would wish to engage in the spectacle of trying to east into oblivion a President of their own party who broke all voting records in 1952 and maintains almost undiminished popularity.

Naturally, the story would be different if the President chose not to run. Then the GOP almost surely would be torn by an internal struggle that would eclipse even the bitter Taft-Eisenhower contest of 1952.

Instead of these two difficult avenues, McCarthy might choose, or be forced to accept, a kind of isolation. Being still fairly young, he might be content with this course in the hope that sooner or later tides would turn and bring large elements of the GOP back to him.

At least temporarily, McCarthy is isolated now. He has abandoned that part of the party which controls it and is governing the United States. It is not yet plain who and how many he takes with him in this break. Until that is clear, the full meaning of his act cannot be measured.

EDEN, A FRIEND

It ought not to be overlooked that Sir Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary, is doing a great deal to foster improved relations between his country and our own.

Recently a bemused Laborite of leftist leanings protested strong action against Red China for its imprisonment of the 13 alleged American "spies." The Labor member implied the Reds probably were telling the truth.

Eden slapped him down in blunt language. Again and again he has shown refreshing sympathy for the American viewpoint, recognition of the incredible burdens we bear in the world struggle, and understanding of our national character.

The very least we can do, it would seem, is to repay such generous-spirited leadership in kind.

INTERPLANETARY INVASION

"Shooting Stars" are usually meteorites or meteoric fragments which enter the earth's atmosphere from outer space. Most often they are completely burned up by the air's friction. Occasionally, enough material survives to strike the earth's surface.

Down in Sylacauga, Ala., the other day, Mrs. Hewlett Hodges may or may not have been wishing on a star. But she had one wished on her. A meteorite six inches wide crashed through her roof, bounced off her radio and struck her body.

She was puzzled. If she had a TV set working, she might not have been. She would have assumed that the interplanetary invasion had begun.

Boyle's Column

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk reflections of a pavement Plato:

If a grinning, skinny old man wearing a neatly clipped grey mustache, a pink shirt and a stylish charcoal black suit climbs down your chimney on Christmas eve, don't shoot him or phone for the plice.

He may be Santa Claus!

Christmas has gone so modernistic that, sooner or later, someone is going to start a movement to take away old Santa's beard, put him on a diet and turn him into a fashion plate.

But do we want that? Would it really improve Santa Claus to make him look like one of those neat, crisp fellows in the men of distinction ads?

The great value of Santa Claus has been that he makes no effort to keep up with the times, and has remained jolly and changeless and old-fashioned for centuries—a symbol of selfless kindness.

It is a mistake to try to modernize great traditions, and Christmas is a great tradition. But in recent years it has been getting more and more arty and, perhaps, less and less hearty.

Take the Christmas tree itself. Any person of middle age can recall the shared joy of a time when decorating the Christmas tree was a matter of family pride. Everybody took part—dad, mom, and the kids.

Practically all the ornaments were home-made. Remember the thrill of threading popcorn and cranberries to rope the green tree with strands of white and red? Remember cutting long slivers of tinfoil from cigarette wrappers hoarded for months? And remember the moment of ecstasy when dad, standing on a stepladder, carefully fastened the cardboard star, covered with tinfoil, to the very top of the tree?

Probably in thousands of homes this simple family ritual still goes on unchanged, except that most of the ornaments now are bought at the ten-cent store.

But in many other homes the Christmas tree has become so arty, so tortured out of shape, it is unrecognizable. You go into a guy's home and ask him what he's doing with a clothes rack in his living room, and he replies indignantly:

"What do you mean — clothes rack? That's our Christmas tree."

Well, maybe I'm just getting to be a middle-aged foggy. But don't most of us look back to a time when Christmas, always a season of the flowering spirit, had more of heart than art in it? Let's make the modernists keep their paws off Santa Claus. He's perfect as he is.

In Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Stuck for a Christmas present for your bald Uncle Pete? How about a crew-cut toupee?

Xavier Cugat has one. So does Van Heflin and Humphrey Bogart. It is the latest thing for those whose hair is thin and although the crew-cut may be over your Christmas budget for your uncles, many a wife is urging it on her husband.

"The wives are a prime factor with men who get hair pieces," says Fred Fredericks, head of the hair department at Max Factor's beauty emporium.

"Most women are 2 to 10 years younger than their husbands. The age difference becomes more apparent if the man begins to lose his hair as he grows older. Many of the women seek to make the gap less noticeable by having their husbands wear hair pieces."

Fredericks, a tall, friendly man who grows his own thatch, has been in the hair business for 30 years. Business aside, he is convinced of the merits of having men adopt toupees.

"In these days, it's essential that men look their best, especially those who deal with the public in their business," he said. "If a man is 36, he must look 36 and not 43, particularly if he's changing jobs. This is important for salesmen. But it applies to everyone from politicians to plumbers. And we get them all."

Without using names — Factor's never reveals its clients — he cited some examples: He was a local obstetrician. He reported that patients would bring their sisters and friends to see him about a future birth. Then they would go away and he wouldn't see them again. His practice suffered.

"He was bald, with some wisps of hair on top," Fredericks recalled. "That made him look untidy. People want confidence in their doctors, want them to seem neat and efficient. We made a hair piece for the doctor and now he wears it everywhere, even in the operating room. And his practice has improved immensely."

A curious and apparently common condition is brought up for discussion in today's first inquiry.

Q—I should like to know what causes the distressed feeling of what I call "nervous legs" and what I can do to overcome it?

A—Perhaps this disorder is more commonly known as "restless legs." According to published reports the most characteristic symptoms are a feeling of weakness in the legs and a sensation of cold in the feet. Disturbance of sleep is common. For relief, people move their feet continually or get up and move about. Massage has no effect. The unpleasant sensations appear only when the person is at rest, as in sleep or at the movies. The cause is not understood. There is some reason to believe that the cause lies in the nervous system and other reasons to suggest circulatory disturbances. There does not seem to be any satisfactory treatment.

Q—Are there any exercises or medicine I can take to reduce a large bust?

A—Unfortunately not. Under most exceptional circumstances surgery to remove excessive tissue is a possibility but this is only rarely desirable. Loss of weight of the body as a whole may occasionally reduce the size of the bust as well as the amount of fat carried elsewhere on the body.

Q—I have a son 15 who weighs 142 pounds and is 5 feet 9 inches tall. A few months ago I noticed a swelling around his right breast and I wonder if this is anything to worry about?

A—There is a possibility of stimulation from the production of some female sex hormone tissue and examination of the testicles and possibly the adrenals is indicated.

Q—I am 25 years old and so far as I know have nothing physically wrong. Lately, however, my ankles have been swelling, particularly the right one. There is no pain and I wonder if this can be important?

A—This can indeed be important and a careful examination for possible heart or kidney disease in particular should be made as soon as possible.

Q—One year ago I had a slipped disc removed from my spine and have a bone graft there. Would it be advisable to become pregnant?

A—Providing the operation was a success and there are no other reasons for avoiding pregnancy the operation described should not interfere with a perfectly normal childbearing experience.

Q—Several months ago I had a bad case of infected poison oak on my arms and legs. When it healed it left bad scars. Is there anything I can do to make these scars disappear?

A—Possibly yes. A skin specialist should be consulted with a view to considering one of the newer methods of removing superficial scars on the skin.

Q—Can a spur or calcium deposit on the heel be cured without an operation?

A—Sometimes relief has been obtained by injection and sometimes such injections have not only failed but made the pain worse. The decision on whether to try it should usually depend on the severity of the pain in the first place, and the need for attempting this uncertain method of obtaining relief.

Switch of Career Diplomats Doesn't Mean Policy Change

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The switch in top echelon State Department official handling Middle Eastern affairs should not be taken as any indication of a change in American policy toward this area.

In this shift, Assistant Secretary of State Henry A. Byroade will become ambassador to Egypt. And George V. Allen, who has been ambassador to India, will become Secretary of State, succeeding Mr. Byroade.

There has been some properly suppressed relief, if not delight, in Israeli circles over the departure of Mr. Byroade from Washington. He was considered hostile to the Zionist cause for his frank statements on the problems of the Middle East.

He looked upon these problems from what were considered the best, long-term interests of the United States and the rest of the free world, rather than from the viewpoint of what might be the ambitions of any one country or group of countries in the area.

Israeli Spokesmen Did Not Like what Mr. Byroade said and did. They termed his speeches and statements "Byroadism" and would have none of them.

The basis for objections to U. S. policies in the Middle East as stated by the American Zionist Committee for Public Affairs, which claims to be a spokesman for all U. S. Zionist organizations on American-Israeli relations, is briefly this:

Israel fears that the U. S. government, in giving arms to Iraq—and possibly to other Arab countries later on—will do so without requiring them to enter into negotiations with Israel for peace. At the same time, Israel objects because the U. S. has never acted on Israel's requests for arms, first made in February, 1952.

The Israelis say they have no objections to U. S. economic aid for the Arab countries, but that any arming of the Arab states makes the possibility of an Arab-Israeli peace more remote.

The American Zionist Committee says it sought the opinions of all U. S. candidates for Congress on arming the Arabs, not as an effort to influence the U. S. elections last month, but merely to promote full discussion of a U. S. foreign policy which they thought not in the best interest of this country.

American Officials Do Not view these things in quite this light. Little area that is called "the Holy Land."

Department to change its Middle East policy became so open and so great that at one time consideration was given to asking the government of Israel to recall one of its top representatives in the U. S. as persona non grata.

In the end this was not done. Instead, the Administration policy of patience and moderation in dealing with its more explosive problems was called on.

American policy to end the chaotic conditions in the Middle East is now admitted to be something that will take a long time to work out. It will take quiet negotiations with both sides. There may be little or no news about these negotiations until there are definite results to announce.

For instance, agreement on plans to harness the Jordan River and share its waters among several countries is expected next year.

It is recognized that peace cannot be brought to the Middle East by laying down the law. Either or both sides might like that if they could get guarantees of boundaries under the 1950 agreement by America, Britain and France to protect both the Arabs and Israel from aggression.

The Surer Way Is Now believed to lie in having the two sides find a common ground for settlement of their differences on mutually agreeable terms. It is admitted that neither side now seems to want peace. But this is and will continue to be the U. S. policy in helping them achieve peace.

It is an old practice in government that whenever a difficult or almost impossible situation arises, a smart young executive is assigned to work it out. He butts his head against it until he has contributed all he can. Then a new man is brought in.

Under this spotlight, Ambassador Allen comes to Washington. He has been Assistant Secretary of State before—in charge of public affairs. He beat his brains out on the U. S. information program for a couple of years at the end of the war.

Before that he was an assistant director and director of the old Office of Near Eastern Affairs. He has been ambassador to Iran, Yugoslavia and India, and a consular officer in Egypt.

He knows his way around the enlarged division of Near Eastern, South Asian and African affairs which he will now head. While this area includes a good many trouble spots, it is a safe bet that he will spend a good third of his time on problems having to do with that little area that is called "the Holy Land."

Old-Fashioned Beefsteak

Party Delights Menfolk

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

If, during the holidays, you want to give a stag party for your husband, your best bet will be an old-fashioned beefsteak dinner. We went to one recently at Cavanaugh's restaurant, a New York landmark on West 23rd street.

We wore a large white butcher's apron and a chef's cap. No knives or forks allowed, only fingers.

The menu: Baked oysters, Casino, hearts of celery and olives, sliced beefsteak on toast (all you could eat), and if you wanted it, all the beer you could drink.

French fried potatoes. For dessert—kidneys and baby spring lamb chop, then coffee.

The price of this gargantuan meal was $9.25 a person. It was the favorite Cavanaugh menu we were told, of such famous patrons as President Grover Cleveland and Theodore Roosevelt; also Diamond Jim Brady, Enrico Caruso, John L. Sullivan and Al Smith. They all ate with their fingers just the way we did.

In case your husband resembles any of these worthies and you decide as a Christmas gesture to give him an old-fashioned beef-steak party, you'll be interested in what Jack Andrews, the chief, advises.

1. Select prime sirloin steak, 3 inches thick. Allow one pound per person. Have butcher bone steak and trim off most of the fat.

2. Dip steak in olive oil flavored with garlic. Place under highest flame in broiler. Broil 7 minutes on each side for medium, 5 minutes on each side for rare.

3. Slice crosswise (against the grain). Each 2 pounds should give about 16 quarter-inch slices. Place each slice on hot toast finger and saturate with drawn butter or margarine. Sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Don't forget the chef's hats and white butcher aprons for the guests. And fingers only from beginning to end.

SUNDAY'S DINNER: Fruit cup, broiled sirloin steak, baked potatoes, buttered cauliflower, snap beans, rolls, butter or margarine, celery and olives, apple pie with ice cream, coffee, tea, milk.

Deft potters of 18th century Holland registered their trademarks to give as a Christmas gesture to prevent counterfeiting of clay tiles they executed.

Many Women Believe Mirage

That Life Is a Pretty Picture

One reason why there are so many dissatisfied women today is that the present generation of homemakers has been led to expect life to be a series of pretty pictures.

They are told that if they will do this and do that they can stay young and attractive and glamorous. And so they work and strive to fight the sign of age. When they see it is a losing battle they feel defeated.

They constantly strive to make beautiful pictures of their houses. And when family living chatters the pretty pictures, they feel frustrated. For any woman with a family who expects a house to be a pretty picture is sure to be disappointed.

They have been led to believe that their children will never be problems if they handle them just right. And when the children persist in having their share of faults and troubles and problems, their mothers wonder where they have failed.

HONEYMOON IS SOON OVER

They have been taught to expect marriage to be one long honeymoon. And so when they hit the rough spots and face the periods of loneliness or boredom or conflict, they think their marriages are failures.

Life isn't a series of pretty pictures and any woman who expects it to be is sure to be frustrated at every turn.

The only happy women are those who take life as it comes, enjoying the good to the fullest and meeting the bad with courage.

That is the real truth—but many women today don't find it out soon enough for their own good.

'It's Relaxing': Private Declares Peeling Appeals

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—There's no appeal like it—the appeal in peeling potatoes.

"It's relaxing," says Pfc. Robert P. Cordy, who can clean 11 spuds in one minute. After he took the speed test recently, his mess sergeant commented:

"Cordy is so good a peeler in the kitchen I'd like to have him on KP every day."

That would be fine with the 23-year-old Korean veteran, who often volunteers for KP duty.

Cordy's prowess as a potato peeler won him recognition this week as KP of the year, a newly created honor for outstanding kitchen performers. He also got a three-day pass from this post but he can't wait to get back.

"It's always warm and clean in the kitchen," he says. "We have lots of coffee to drink, and you never hear of KPs marching, do you?"

The Louisville soldier's enlistment is up in July and he hopes to enter the restaurant business.

What is said to be the "easiest and cleanest" home rug cleaner known as Blue Lustre is now available. It is the development of years of research. Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue in the nap after cleaning. The pile is left open and fluffy and the colors are restored to original brilliance as if by magic. All this plus the fact that it's easy to apply and safe for the finest fabrics makes Blue Lustre the answer to the wall to wall carpet cleaning problem. Blue Lustre is a concentrate and inexpensive to use. Half gallons priced at $2.99 will clean three 9x12 rugs. Available at Bomke Hardware Co.

Nab 4th Man In Theft Of $20,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Cook county Sheriff's Police report that a fourth man has been arrested in Pawtucket, R. I. in connection with a $20,000 theft in suburban Des Plaines Dec. 8.

He was identified as Roland Duffany, 28. He and the other three are accused of taking the cash from a strongbox belonging to Gustav Fritzsche of Des Plaines.

The others are Robert Weyrauch, 23; Edgar Hauser, 22, and Bruce Fritzsche, 17, Gustav's son.

Police said Weyrauch and Hauser had signed statements admitting complicity in the case and that young Fritzsche had given oral admission.

Capt. Frank Quinn of the sheriff's police said Duffany was arrested Thursday. Quinn said he would go to Pawtucket today to take custody of Duffany. He said the suspect had waived extradition.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP News Analyst

When U. N. Secretary General Hammarskjold goes to Peiping seeking the release of imprisoned American fliers it will be up to the United States to provide him with whatever bargaining power he will have.

In an aside to the message inviting Hammarskjold to come, the Reds assert, in effect, what was already obvious—that the opinion of the United Nations means nothing to them.

At the same time they deny they have violated the Korean truce by detaining the men instead of exchanging them along with others, and say that if there has been any truce violation it was when the United States permitted 2,700 North Korean and Chinese Communist prisoners to refuse repatriation.

The Reds have indicated, however, that they might be interested in a bargain, by which 35 Chinese students who came to America before Peiping intervened in Korea might be permitted to go home in exchange for the fliers.

This idea was received at first in the United States as unacceptable on the grounds that the fliers should be returned as a moral right, and the Chinese should be issued exit visas on the basis of American law and merit. The students have been detained under a presidential emergency proclamation in connection with the war which requires the holding of such visitors as may have acquired information or skills which could help an enemy.

Later the State Department indicated the deal might be considered after all, and this is now the chief idea both in Washington and among U. N. officials.

There is a difference between using economic concessions, such as the United States has used to free some prisoners from behind the Iron Curtain in Europe, and bartering human beings. If the Chinese students still really want to go home, however, it is hard to see how any violation of human rights can be involved. It would be up to the United States to see to it that this is actually the fact, and that none of them would be railroaded because of pressures set up against them at home. That was the position taken with regard to the Red war prisoners in Korea, and one which cannot now be compromised without serious consequences.

As pointed out in this column several days ago, Peiping attains a certain amount of "face" in Asia through the mere fact of Hammarskjold's trip. The Oriental respects power. The power to make the West come to beg—and there is no question that Hammarskjold will be considered in Asia as a Westerner rather than a world representative—is important to the Reds. It, rather than any deal for release of the fliers, could be their whole objective.

350 At Grotto's Children's Xmas Party At Temple

Zingbad Grotto entertained over 350 persons at its annual Children's Christmas Party at the Masonic Temple Wednesday evening. About 200 children were kept busy with group singing, games and entertainment. Refreshments of ice cream, cookies, milk and coffee were served by the members to the group in attendance, followed by a visit from Santa Claus, who, with his helpers, distributed piles of gifts to the boys and girls. The Grotto topped off the evening with distribution of candy, apples and oranges.

Of particular interest at the party was a puppet show presented by the Weller children and Mrs. Isabel Weller, movies and group singing led by Harlan Lee Williamson and Mrs. Francis Angel, Vern Mueller and Bob Ferris, co-chairmen of the annual event, were assisted by several dozen members on the committee in staging this huge affair.

As a part of the Grotto's Christmas contributions, gifts and treats have been distributed to all the physically handicapped children at Lincoln grade school and treats have been furnished for two local families, under the direction of Monarch Frank Smith. This is in keeping with the Grotto's national project, "Remember the Forgotten Child."

The next Grotto function will be a regular meeting on Wednesday, January 5, 1955.

$2 Million Estate Brightens Holiday For Two Families

DETROIT (AP)—Christmas looked a lot brighter today for two Detroit area families named Thursday as two of three heirs to a two-million-dollar estate of a former Detroit businessman.

William Robert Scott, 49, of Highland Park and Mrs. Etta Mae Stricker, 46, of Sandwich East Township, in neighboring Windsor, Ont., learned they would receive about $700,000 each from the estate of their uncle, Robert O. Scott, an electrical fixture business owner who died Aug. 2 in Tampa, Fla.

Mrs. Stricker, whose husband had been out of work during a 10-week strike at the Ford of Canada plant, said:

"We are trusting in the Lord to guide us in spending the money. We expect to pay our debts and use the remainder for the work of the Lord."

Scott, an $80-a-week factory worker, said:

"I knew Uncle Bob had some money, but I didn't think it was that much. But now that I know the estate might be worth two million dollars. Wow!"

CHRISTMAS CAROL

They are not wise, these three small men. They are simple in the way of children. They bear little semblance to the three Princes who came to Christ's manger to pay homage . . . save that they, too, bear gifts, offering them with a song, a Christmas carol upon their lips.

Behind them stands the Church, the home of Christ, the house that welcomes those who would visit Him. These youngsters are among His regular visitors, and for them Christmas has a very special meaning.

Though they will have a tree trimmed with shining ornaments, brightly wrapped packages, fun and laughter, they will be deeply conscious of the true meaning of this glorious season. Through their church they have learned the wonders of God's love—which endures not just at Christmas but throughout every day of every year.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

DEAR DEER CHEEROYGAN, Mich. (P)—John Pritchard, 35, of Dearborn recently bagged more than his limit of deer in Michigan. And he isn't happy about it.

Pritchard told State Police two deer ran into his car on a highway near Cheboygan. But state conservation officers took the deer carcasses and distributed the venison to state institutions. All Pritchard had to show for his feat was a bill for $300 for repairs to his automobile.

Versailles Man Has Elaborate Christmas Display

VERSAILLES—E. W. Tarrant has again transformed Versailles into the spirit of the Yule Tide, with his annual elaborate lighting display and Nativity scene. Thousands of colored lights illuminate the Tarrant Funeral home and his residence nearby.

While on the lawns, life size characters depict the Nativity scene with impressive life like portrayal, overhead shines the "star" and soft music comes from a loud speaker. Aside from the religious and inspirational scene is one erected close by of Santa and his reindeer, Christmas tree and all.

Tarrant has presented this to the public for several years and each year visitors come from many miles to view the scene.

CLOTHES DRYER CATCHES FIRE

The Fire Department was called to the residence of Chester Hempel, 112 Park street, to extinguish a fire in the clothes dryer. There apparently was a short in the wiring and the only loss was the clothes in the dryer.

Virginia To Have Xmas Program At Grade School Gym

VIRGINIA, Ill.—A program of Christmas songs will be given Sunday December 19, at 2:30 p.m. in the Virginia high school gymnasium, directed by Theodore F. Long, vocal music teacher.

The warmth and joy, good fellowship and thanksgiving, so much a part of the Christmas season, will be expressed in the singing of famous songs, familiar hymns and colorful carols inherited from our forefathers.

The grade school chorus will present the following: "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen," "Christmas Brings Joy to Every Heart," "O, Christmas Tree," "Then Let Us All Rejoice A-ma-ni," "Kolada," "O Come, Little Children," "Midnight Strikes In Yonder Tower," "O Come, All Ye Faithful."

The girls grade school chorus will sing "Carol of the Bells," "Holy Child," "A Christmas Lullaby," "Snowflakes."

"Christmas Hymn" will be sung by a mixed chorus. A mixed high school chorus, with Marcia McGhee as accompanist, will present "O, Holy Night," a Christmas song, "The Birthday of a King," with Pat Doolin as soloist; "Sweet Little Jesus Boy," Janice Downs, soloist; "The Infant Jesus."

The boys grade school chorus will sing "As Each Happy Christmas," "Come, All Ye Shepherds," "Angels We Have Heard On High," "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

The grade school chorus sings

COMMENTS on THINGS & STUFF

"...and the nickels and the dimes roll away." But not for Happy Harry. He seems always well-heeled for those "extra" occasions because he makes it a habit to toss his loose change into one of our attractive piggy banks. Then when some special occasion arises he merely taps Piggy, and there is the dough. His regular budget isn't all upset by these special occasions. That's why we call him Happy Harry. We have these attractive piggy banks in many interesting shapes and sizes from 99 cents and up; so it will be easy for you to practice thrift without stinginess. ## Fire Destroys Five Room Home In Carrollton

CARROLLTON—The five room one-story frame home of Mrs. Marcelle Meek Hansen of Carrollton was destroyed by fire at noon Thursday. All but a small amount of clothing and a few furnishings from the contents of the house also burned. Just the framework of the structure, located on route 67 just south of the Carrollton high school, was left standing and was still burning at mid-afternoon.

Mrs. Hansen was at her neighbors at noon when flames were seen from the kitchen windows of the Hansen home by Mr. and Mrs. George Lowe who live across the street. They notified the Carrollton fire department but the fire had gained too much of a headway to quench the flames before the home was destroyed. Mrs. Hansen believes the fire may have started by the coal stove in the kitchen exploding.

Mrs. Hansen, a widow, has lived alone since the death a number of years ago of her mother. The home was partially covered by insurance.

Mrs. Hansen was at her neighbors at noon when flames were seen from the kitchen windows of the Hansen home by Mr. and Mrs. George Lowe who live across the street. They notified the Carrollton fire department but the fire had gained too much of a headway to quench the flames before the home was destroyed. Mrs. Hansen believes the fire may have started by the coal stove in the kitchen exploding.

James Fehhaber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Siegfried Fehhaber, of this city, graduated from Naval Officer's Training School in Newport, R. I. December 16, with the rank of lieutenant. He expects to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents and then will go to California for further training.

Twenty-six ladies of the Grace Lutheran church of Virginia, met in the church basement Thursday evening. After the business meeting, new officers were installed by Rev. Wilbur Allen, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Hazel Sweatman was installed as president; Mrs. Anna-belle Jokisch, vice-president; Mrs. Betty Middendorf, secretary; Mrs. W. F. Ring, treasurer.

Roll call was answered with the name of a Christmas song or religious song. Mrs. Wilbur Allen was program leader for the meeting and was assisted by Mrs. Wilma Rossi, Helen Davis, Mrs. Irma Smith, Mrs. Betty Cooper, Mrs. Joe Fagley.

Mrs. Betty Middendorf was in charge of the social hour. Mrs. Frank Long and Mrs. Robt. Miller were hostesses. The table and refreshments were in keeping with the season.

Mrs. Robinson Is Xmas Hostess To Sinclair Club

The Christmas meeting for the Sinclair Woman's club was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Roy E. Robinson and members left gifts at a large decorated tree upon arriving. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. William Dobbs in the absence of the club president.

The session opened with the pledge to the flag followed by the Lord's Prayer. The secretary, Mrs. Charles Bealmear, reported and read communications. The spiritual life chairman, Mrs. Robinson, gave scripture reading and carols were sung. Mrs. Lester Martin, American home chairman, gave a report.

Mrs. Donald Lowe was appointed to take charge of the club's birthday box. Mrs. Bealmear was the program chairman for the afternoon and opened the program with an article "Putting Christ Back into Christmas" and followed with a thought for the day. Mrs. Lowe read a story, "Joy to the World."

Mrs. Marvin Martin was in charge of the exchange of gifts and Mrs. Harry Martin closed the afternoon with the club prayer.

The hostess then served delicious refreshments. Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Robert Houston, Mrs. Howard Houston and Dannie, Mrs. Paul Reid, Susan Jean Ward and Gary Martin. The club will meet again Jan. 19 with Mrs. Helen Bates.

WEST SIDE CLUB XMAS PARTY AT HOLT RESIDENCE

The West Side Woman's club held its annual Christmas party Friday night at the home of Mrs. Lillian Holt, 419 South Clay avenue.

Club members also revealed Christmas gifts and were exchanged. Thirteen members were present and a turkey dinner was enjoyed. The committee for the party included Mrs. Margaret Mitchell, chairman, Mrs. Dora B. Wright and Mrs. Holt.

The club will resume regular meetings the second Friday in January.

SHOWED 'EM

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The grandmothers said they did it in answer to a challenge from "prissy friends." And so Mrs. Sallie Daniels, 80, and Mrs. Ray Davis, 51, rode into this city on bicycles after a 95-mile, 11-hour and ten minute trip from Wanchese, North Carolina.

DON'T WORRY, THERE'S A WINDOW BETWEEN 'EM—This squirrel and cat have a noon confab each day at the home of Mrs. Byron Filkins in East Cleveland, Ohio. The conference, according to Mrs. Filkins, appears to be friendly and satisfactory to both animals. Blackie, the cat, is 17 years old.

In School

A. C. M. E. SMITH

A Mercedia young man, Airman Third Class Merlyn E. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Smith, is studying mechanics of jet fighter and bomber planes at the Amarillo Air Force Base, Amarillo, Texas. He completed his basic training at the Lackland A. F. B. at San Antonio, Texas.

Luck, Pluck Of Woman Manager Thwarts Robbery

CHICAGO (AP)—Luck and pluck enabled a woman manager of a currency exchange to thwart a robbery by two men who held her husband and daughter hostage.

One of the robbers telephoned the currency exchange Thursday to tell Mrs. Gladys Hunt, 52, they were holding her invalid husband, Leslie, 56, and daughter, Ruth, 30, in the Hunt home.

"If you follow instructions nothing will happen to them," the robber said. He said he was sending his accomplice to the currency exchange to get the money there.

Mrs. Hunt was still talking to the robber at her home when the second man walked into the exchange wearing the identifying cap described over the phone. She continued the conversation but pressed a button which locked the currency exchange door.

The robber who was to pick up the money sensed what had happened and broke a window to get out, while Mrs. Hunt doggedly kept up her conversation with the robber on the telephone.

When a woman customer walked into the exchange, Mrs. Hunt scribbled a message directing her to call police.

Police who raced to the Hunt home were told the robber had fled after hearing the radio call on a portable short wave set he carried.

The husband and daughter were unharmed. Miss Hunt had been forced to surrender $13.50 she had on her person.

SLAUGHTERS ATTEND

KINDRED FUNERAL

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Slaughter of 830 South Church street have returned from Chicago where they attended services for Rev. Charles G. Kindred. Before his retirement several years ago Rev. Kindred completed a forty-nine year pastorate in the Englewood Christian church in Chicago, the longest city pastorate in the history of the Disciples of Christ Brotherhood.

Before beginning his study for the ministry at Eureka College the deceased was employed at the Jacksonville Journal Courier. He was born in Calhoun county living many years in Pike during his youth. His ashes will be interred in Burbridge cemetery at Pittsfield.

PROGRAM TUESDAY AT WEST LIBERTY SCHOOL

A community Christmas meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night, Dec. 21, at the West Liberty school to which the public is invited. A special program will be given by the children. Mrs. Paul Cooney is teacher of the school.

TO THE RESCUE

NORTH SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A city hall fire drill was so realistic that an employee dashed back into her office to save her pet canary.

Cass Board Of Supervisors Holds Session

VIRGINIA — The Cass county Board of Supervisors met in regular December session, Tuesday, at the courthouse in Virginia. Reports of county officials were approved and other business was the appropriation of $50,000 for the maintenance of motor fuel tax roads and they authorized any church in the county to secure a Christmas tree for their church from the county Planting Forest Preserve, south of Beardsboro.

The following is the main list of grand jurors selected for the March, 1955, term of the circuit court: Wm. Witte, Wm. Maschmeyer, Arenzville; Walter Jurgens, Clarence Gluck, Ashland; Elmer Brockmeier, Malt McDonald, Almida DeSollar, Beardsboro; Voley Fischer, Delores Reichert, Bluff Springs; Hildred Blair, Kenneth Collins, Chandler; Ralph Clark, Marion Elliott, Hagener; Baskell Monroe, Elsie Struble, Newmansville; Carl E. Workman, Georgia J. Harper, Panther Creek; Fred Chm, Jr., Orville Pettit, Philadelphia; Floyd M. Leonard, Ralph Brunk, Sangamon Valley; Albert S. Yowell, Clara Carlson.

The supplemental list of grand jurors follows: H. S. Clark, Helene Dahman, Arenzville; Helen V. Danenberger, Margaret Creed, Ashland; Clarence Boice, Ann Coy, Beardsboro; Marie W. Hager, Edw. L. Jones, Bluff Springs; Delbert Brooks, Helena Shawgo, Chandler; Elmer Niestradt, Hagener; Maude Pschirer, Newmansville; Glenn Gebhardt, Dorothy M. Lynn, Panther Creek; John A. Hays, Maurice Jokisch, Philadelphia; Eric C. Briar, Tilden Lynn, Sangamon Valley; Howard Griffin, Harry Conover, Virginia.

During the meeting, Howard Maddox, supervisor from Philadelphia township, suffered a heart attack and was removed to the Passavant hospital in Jacksonville in the Massie ambulance. His condition is reported as satisfactory.

Christmas Lights

The business district of Virginia is glowing with lights and Christmas decorations. Located on the northeast part of the park is a replica of the stable, with the wisemen, cattle, angels, manger and Holy Family. A large tree with many lights is the attractive decoration in the southwest part of the park. The Jayces have provided a home for Santa, which is located near the tree and he will arrive Saturday and occupy the home, where he will interview boys and girls.

Ropes of lights across the streets and attractively decorated windows of business houses add to the festive scene.

Personals

The residence property of the late Frank Waddell, of this city, was sold at public sale, Wednesday morning, and was purchased by Mrs. Vernon Walther for $1625.

Mrs. C. A. Meneses has received announcement of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meneses, of St. Louis, Wednesday morning. The little girl has been named Marcia. Meneses is a former Virginia resident and son of Mrs. C. A. Meneses.

Mrs. R. A. Pelt left, Wednesday, for Princeton, N. J., where she will spend several months with her daughter, Mrs. G. E. Bentley, and husband.

Rev. E. M. McGhee, pastor of the Virginia Presbyterian church will deliver a Christmas sermon at the morning worship service, Sunday, Dec. 19, using as his theme, "Only a Manger for a Cradle."

The Sunday school class, of which Mrs. Wm. Petefish is teacher, will hold a Christmas party in the social rooms of the church, Monday evening.

On Wednesday, December 22, at 7:30 p. m., a Christmas program will be given by members of the church school and after the program, each child will receive a treat. Parents and friends of the children are invited to attend.

Although there are wide individual differences, most people can respond in about 15 hundredths of a second to sounds and in about 20 hundredths of a second to something they see.

LIFE SAVERS, INC.

AIR-RESCUE SERVICE—or ARS as it is better known—is a tactical organization of the United States Air Force dedicated exclusively to the mission of saving lives. How well the ARS performs this mission was shown recently in Orlando, Fla., where para-rescue teams jumped from transports into the water. Just before hitting the drink, the men cleared their harnesses. They all wore survival gear. Rescue boats then roared in and picked up the men. Those requiring first aid got it immediately from specially-trained medics, who used kits also dropped by parachute.

As a transport flies over the drop area, the parachutists jump from plane into water.

Fight The Wild River by EDMUNDS CLAUSSEN

THE STORY: Radeff Burke has made one unsuccessful attempt to capture a shipment of rifles from Captain Crotch's riverboat. The rifle case is delivered at La Paz, a boom town on the Colorado River. Captain Crotch suspects another try and so he has filled the rifle cases with gravel and has hidden the rifles. Lieutenant Lane has come for the boxes.

LANE took that in before the entire sculpture of his face softened and he unspun the flap to his holster. "Fine, Captain! Now I'll bother you for my rifle case. Don't be surprised at anything that happens when I get them ashore. Perhaps I may be able to call back after my engagement!"

He snapped his hand with military precision bringing a dozen hard-cased miners over the rail armed with pick handles in their belts. They placed themselves around the shipment, lifted the cases as though they were carrying coffins.

Crotch watched them go, knowing he had committed himself to a course that would make his future difficult. Melott had generously sided him in this, but Jim had been a lifelong friend. Dozens of hotheads along this river would be eager to take a pot shot into his pilot-house. The price would have to be paid for taking sides.

As soon as Lane's men hit the cargo-packed earth of the landing strip, rushing figures of Burke's fighters bore down. They came howling out of a blanket of darkness until they completely encircled Lane's cases, giving his men no chance for retreat except to return to Crotch's boat.

But Lane had selected his men wisely. These were picked for their broad shoulders, their arms of iron, men whose sentiments were unyielding and fierce, who had at home a brother or father fighting along the bloody Potomac. They formed a tight core around the cases, offering no quarter.

They swung their pick handles with wicked strokes, dropping the first onrushing wave to reach them, eager now to break from their encirclement after the onrushing rebels. Lane held them in check, and still Burke's men came on in undiminished fury, shouting their lusty yells and brandishing clubs. Each of Lane's small circle faced odds of 10 to 1, never flinching.

Then Crotch did what he swore he never would do. He shouted to his own Cocopahs:

"Down and lend them a hand!"

Once news of this spread along the river landings he was doomed. Crotch had planned on holding his crew aboard out of respect to Sugar Logan's politics, as a last protection for his steamboat. Now he sent his Indians winging into the fight with their lengths of cordwood. China Boy and Melott raced after them, each roaring a battle cry of his own choosing. Melott had made this unchoosing choice of his own volition!

Presently a lone rifle broke through the uproar. Beside Lane a miner clutched his throat and then went plummeting underfoot.

THE Lieutenant raised his dragon pistol. Crotch followed the aim of Lane's gun, caught sight of Geis, the bush-bearded miner, in the wash of lamplight from the saloon. Lane saw him, too; his gun cracked and Geis fell together slowly like an empty sack of wheat.

Crotch caught a low word dropped from Goss's lips, wheeled to see his mate stalking after toward the engine pit. Goss had drawn his pistol.

Crotch drew his pistol, following in Goss's footsteps. In the narrow companionway beside the deck house Goss came to a dead stop, lifted his pistol. "Come out of there, before you get a shot in your heart!"

A hurtling length of firewood struck Goss full on the temple. The blow sent him down like a felled tree.

"All right, Crotch! Come and get it!" Burke's jarring voice struck him.

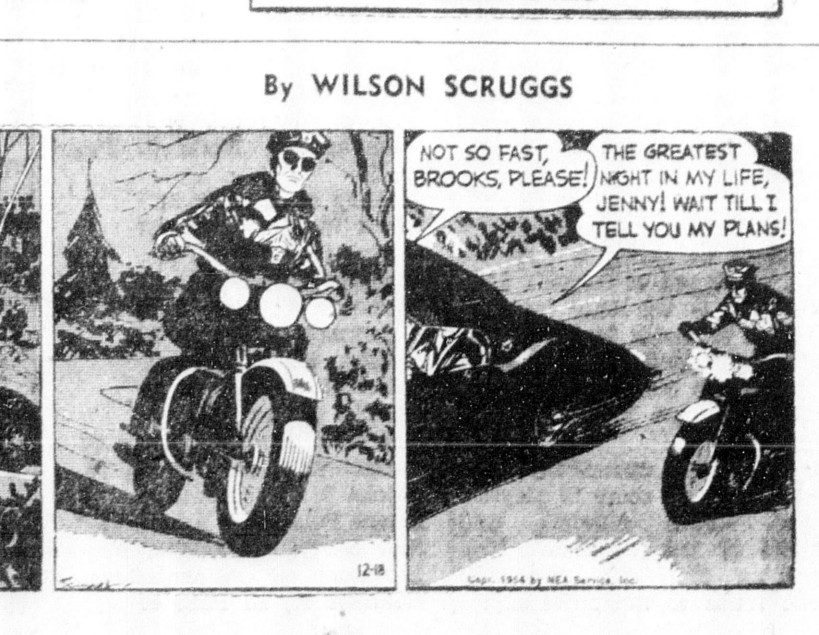

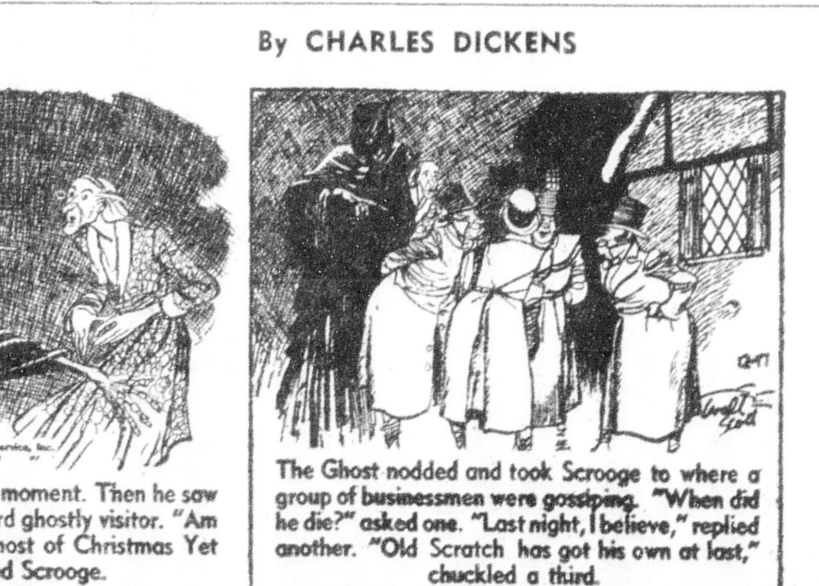

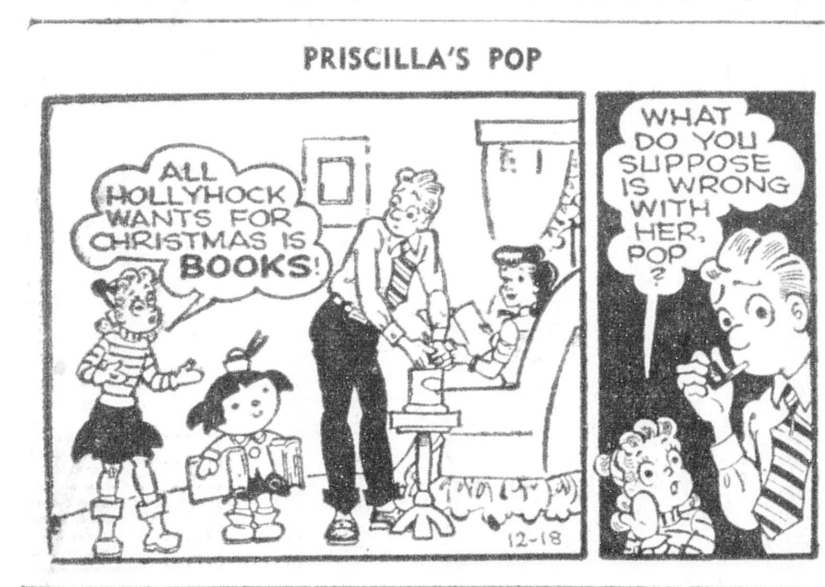

The taunt was followed hard by a shot, the ball tearing through Crotch's jacket. Crotch leaped to one side, threw two fast shots at Burke's pistol flare. They brought him merely a laugh from the engine pit. He dropped down against the wood bunks where a ball thudded by a bare inch above his head. Now he saw reasoning behind Burke's seemingly illogical actions. While Burke's men held every advantage ashore on the landing Burke would kill, make a clean sweep of the issue.

"I'm going to drive a shot into your steam pipes. Then you'll be cooked alive! If you step out from the bunkers I'll kill you!"

SO Burke had him trapped! A fresh flurry of shooting ripped along Burke's side of the steamboat. Crotch was conscious of the sound of Burke turning to answer the shots. He took advantage of the distraction and leaped from the narrow confines of the wood bunks, spied the blue-red flame of Burke's cap-and-ball exploding. He leveled his own gun at the telltale sign and squeezed the trigger.

Burke was silent a full 10 seconds. All the while Crotch could hear thick breathing. Burke had been hit bad and was sucking air into his lungs. Then he pitched headlong across the deck, his body striking a bucket and sending it spinning out of the way. Crotch walked closer to find him on his back. Dead. A man who had heard the call of empire, who had seen a shaft of light and been blinded by its too-sudden power.

Berea Unit Has Christmas Party

Mrs. Leo Fuchs, assisted by Mrs. Robert Foster, entertained members of the Berea Home Bureau unit at a Christmas party at the regular meeting of the unit held Dec. 10 at the home of Mrs. Fuchs. A bountiful potluck luncheon was served at 12:30 p.m. The dining table was attractively covered with white linen with an original Christmas centerpiece made by the hostesses.

Following the dinner the business session was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Merle Kepn. Roll call was how I met my husband. Members decided to have the annual family Christmas party in the basement of the Berea church on Dec. 20. Further details will be taken care of later. Mrs. Kern announced chairmen for the coming year. They are: 4-H, Mrs. Wilburn Kinnett; legislation and education, Mrs. Lloyd Flinn; health, Mrs. Albert Nall; safety, Mrs. John Williamson; commodities, Mrs. Hugh Norfleet; program, Mrs. Jesse Petefish; publicity, Mrs. Robert Foster; music, Mrs. Lloyd Smith; recreation, Mrs. Richard Johnson and Mrs. Harold Stewart, and library, Mrs. Robert Foster.

The lesson, How Do You Rate as a Family Dietician, was given by the home adviser, Jean Plumb. Following the usual meeting a gift exchange was enjoyed and carols were sung.

School Bus Driver Solves Problem Of Rioting Students

CHICAGO (P)—Irrked by 36 young passengers, students at a social adjustment school, who rioted aboard his bus Thursday, the driver hit upon a solution.

He detoured to a police station. Policemen surrounded the bus and removed the jeering teenagers, one at a time, and locked them up. They were later released and their names turned over to school authorities.

R. W. Watzke was the harassed driver. The boys, ranging from 14 to 18 years old and all students at the Montefiore Social Adjustment School, boarded the bus in a group and kicked Watzke's change purse down the aisle toward the rear. When he was unable to recover it himself and Chicago Transit Authority employees were unable to get on the bus to help, Watzke drove to the police station.

Students from the same school took possession of a streetcar and manhandled the conductor about 18 months ago.

Big Demand For Persian Cats Bothers Iranians

TEHRAN, Iran (P)—Iranian patriots are demanding a slowdown in the export of the Persian cats who have made the country's former name a household word around the world.

Reports from Iran's northern province of Azerbaijan that a local cat tycoon is stripping the area of kitties brought sharp protests. "Allah protect us from the consequences of this procedure," the influential weekly Roshan - Fekr railed. "For 6,000 years we have been famous for our cats. But if matters proceed at this rate, we may even have to import cats."

Reports from the North said an unidentified dealer was buying Persian cats en masse at 18 rials—about 25 cents—per kitten. His offer of 50 rials for pregnant cats resulted in a land office business, the reports said. The cats' destination wasn't reported.

Arenzville Altar Society To Have Party Dec. 19th

ARENZVILLE—The Altar society met Friday evening, Dec. 10, at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Zillion. The meeting opened with prayer and 16 answered roll call with a tongue twister.

During the business session plans were made for a Christmas party and potluck supper for Sunday evening, Dec. 19, at the Arenzville Legion hall.

The new officers for 1955 are: president, Olga Dober; vice president, Julia McLain; secretary, Anna Herbert; treasurer, Ann McLain and reporter, Dorothy Joy.

A poem, "Santa Claus Is Read," was read by Olga Dober. Contests were won by Joan Walters, Frances Hobrock and Robert Clark. The meeting closed with prayer. Father Griffin was a guest. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Jimmy Carter Hickok Winner

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Carter, first fighter ever to regain a world championship twice, Friday was named the winner of the November award in the Hickok pro athlete of the year poll for his spectacular 15th technical knockout of Parry DeMarco.

The lightweight champion lost his crown to DeMarco by decision March 5. In their return in San Francisco Nov. 17, Carter trounced DeMarco.

Scribes Name Durocher Manager Of The Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leo Durocher, who climaxed a brilliant masterminding year by leading the New York Giants to a four-game sweep of the Cleveland Indians in the World Series, Friday was named manager of the year by a landslide vote.

It was practically no contest as the balding, 48-year-old skipper received 316 of the 426 votes cast by sports writers and sportscasters throughout the nation in the annual Associated Press poll.

Durocher's victory ended the reign of the New York Yankees' Casey Stengel who had been chosen the major's No. 1 manager in four of the previous five years.

Durocher's heavy support was three times as much as the combined total of the 16 other pilots.

Al Lopez, who did a magnificent job managing the Indians to an American League pennant as well as to a league record of 111 victories, was runnerup to Durocher with 32

The Illinois College Blueboys used William Penn as a tuneup for tonight's anticipated tough game with William Jewell defeating the visitors from Oskaloosa, Iowa 83-36 here last night.

Coach Al Miller used every man he had dressed with the second team playing just as much as the first in the one sided victory before a rather sparse crowd in the local gym.

Ed Harrell led the scoring for the winners with 18 points. Bob Stansfield connected for 13. Hackbart dumped in 12 for the losers.

Winchester Cops 6th Straight, Wins 73-36

WINCHESTER—(Special)—Coach Walt Ruck's Winchester Wildcats won their sixth straight game of the season here last night as they defeated Greenfield 73-36 to take over first place in the Illinois Valley Conference.

The Wildcats took a 15-7 first quarter lead but the fighting visitors closed the gap and were down by only two points at halftime. However, paced by the shooting of Tom Hubble, the Wildcats came back strong in the second half to win easily.

Hubble paced all scoring with 33 points. Stone had 17 for the losers. Winchester won the preliminary 49-37.

NCAA Gives Oklahoma Clean Bill Of State

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Friday wound up an on-the-spot probe of University of Oklahoma athletics with a report the Sooners would be cleared completely of recruiting and subsidy violation charges.

Quentin Little, Oklahoma member of the Board of Regents, declared one of the three NCAA investigators told him policies of OU, one of the nation's top football powers, were "the cleanest we've ever investigated."

The statement was attributed to Walter Byers, executive secretary of the NCAA. Byers himself refused to comment, as did Dr. Frank N. Gardner, Drake University theology professor, and E. G. Whereatt, NCAA employee, the other members of the infractions committee.

The committee will turn its report over to the NCAA Council,

Jacks Host Macomb, William Jewell At IC, Rockets Hit The Road

Three of the four major local teams will be in action tonight, two of them on the local courts. The Jacksonville Crimsoms play host to Macomb in the local bowl, first game starting at 6:45, while the Illinois College Blueboys entertain William Jewell of Liberty, Missouri in an 8:00 contest at the IC gym.

Rounding out tonight's activity will be the Routt Rockets' journey to Franklin for a game with the M.S.M. conference entry. The I.S.D. Tigers started their Christmas vacation early, having been idle all week.

In the J.H.S. bowl tonight, the Crimsoms will be going after their fourth straight victory of the campaign and their fifth of the season when they take on the Macomb five.

Coach John Chapman will probably go with a starting five picked from his first eight. The city's leading prep scorer, Bill Jordan, will undoubtedly get the nod at center flanked by Howard Johnson, Jim Woodward or Max Roegge at forwards. The guard spots will be held down by Larry Scott, Jack Fairfield and Tom Coats.

Blueboy Game at 8

In the other game on the local front, the IC Blueboys will have their hands full with the tall and rugged William Jewell five. The Missouri team represents the tallest club the Millermen have encountered thus far this season.

Reports indicate the Liberty school can put a team on the floor averaging 6-5 or more. This will be the ninth game of the year for the Jim Nelson coached team. They have played and beaten such teams as Kansas City University, St. Benedict's and Rockhurst.

Routt at Franklin

Coach Jim Smarjeski's Routt Rockets hit the road for their second game in two nights as they journey to Franklin for a pair of contests with the Flashes.

This will be the only meeting of the season for the Flashes and Rockets.

Virginia Reels Chandlerville

VIRGINIA—(Special)—The Virginia Re-birds won their eighth game of the season here last night as they defeated Chandlerville 56-44 in a PMBC conference game.

Smith and Barnett paced the scoring for the winners with 18 and 17 points respectively. Clark had 17 for Chandlerville.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The corporate bond market was irregular Friday as trading slowed slightly. U. S. government bonds extended Thursday's declines.

"Big Board" volume was a substantial $5,380,000 par value. But it was below Thursday's $5,590,000 and the lowest total of the week. Convertible obligations and discount railroads continued to find strong support. But investment quality issues were mixed, changing hands on a highly selective basis.

Treasury bonds lost minor fractions in slow over the counter dealings.

New York Stock Market

AD—NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market kept up its rolling advance Friday and recorded its second straight new 25-year high.

There were exceptionally strong gains in aircrafts and railroads, and many oils and motors were in heavy demand.

The advance carried up to $9 in the case of Douglas Aircraft which closed at 113. Many key issues were up $1 to around $3.

The market in two days has more than made up the losses of the previous week when stocks went through a cautious retreat.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1.20 at $152.40. It was up $1.80 Thursday. The average now stands at the highest point since Sept. 19, 1929, when it was at $152.50. The all-time peak of $157.70 came Sept. 3, 1929.

New highs were scored by two of three components in the average. Industrials rose $1.40 to a new high of $206.90, and railroads were up $1.90 at a new high of $120.90. Utilities remained unchanged.

Volume built up to 3,370,000 shares as compared with 3,390,000 shares traded Thursday.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on heavy volume of 1,340,000 shares. That compares with 1,130,000 shares traded Thursday.

ALL GRAINS EXCEPT BEANS SHOW GAINS

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat moved higher under the impetus of a strong buying movement on the Board of Trade Friday, carrying most of the rest of the grain market with it. Soybeans were the only laggard.

It was the second straight day of strength in old crop wheat deliveries. This time, however, the new crop months joined in the upswing, inspired by prospects of little or no moisture over the next five days in the Southwest.

Wheat closed 1 1/2-2 1/4 higher, corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, oats 1/4-1 1/2 higher, rye 2 to 2 1/4 higher, soybeans unchanged to 1/2 lower, and lard unchanged to 7 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Holland bought some hard wheat and Japan some Pacific Coast white wheat. The latter wheat normally is not hedged in futures and exports of it have little influence in the futures pit.

Main reason for wheat's strength, grain men believe, is the possibility of a tight situation developing in free market supplies of wheat before the 1955 crop comes in.

Corn scored only small gains and never showed any strength to match wheat. Limited demand for cash corn from the East continued to act as a drag on prices. Soybeans suffered from liquidation as there was no expansion in hedging pressure.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—Butchers and hogs sold steady to 25 cents higher Friday, enabling the hog market to rebound from the two-year lows set Thursday. Trading was active. Salable receipts totaled 11,000.

Buyers paid $17.25 to $18.50 for most choice 190 to 220-pound butchers, reaching up to $18.65 for a deck or so. Offerings scaling 230 to 260 moved at $16.25 to $17.50 with 260 to 300-pounders $15.75 to $16.50. Sows sold from $13.50 to $15.75.

There was practically no trade in steers and heifers, although a sizeable quantity grading low choice and below was available from earlier sessions this week. Good and choice mixed yearlings sold at $21.00 to $24.00. Commercial and good steers brought $16.00 to $20.00.

Utility and commercial cows sold around 25 cents lower to $8.50 to $10.00. Clearance was incomplete. Vealers held steady at $19.00 to $22.00 for good and choice. Salable receipts totaled 800.

Salable sheep receipts totaled 800. Lambs were steady to strong at $17.50 to $19.75 for most good to prime woolled types.

Crash Ends Flight Of Cook-- $6,100

BUFFALO, Minn. (AP)—A logging camp cook, fleeing with $6,100 taken from a bank here, ended up in the hospital late Thursday when his getaway car crashed into another 15 minutes after the holdup.

Ole Arseth, 49, Isabella, Minn., was captured in a chase organized by George Laplant, off-duty Buffalo police chief, who walked unarmed into the Oakley National Bank while the holdup was in progress. Laplant heard a whispered warning from cashier Harold Templin, raced to his police car, radioed the alarm and took off after the fleeing gunman.

The tiny Dutch colony of St. Eustatius, in the West Indies, fired the first foreign salute to American sovereignty in 1776.

Would Mean Prominent Brewer Reduction Of Dies After Plane Crash Killing Three

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Frederick C. Miller, prominent Milwaukee businessman and sports figure, died Friday night of burns and other injuries received several hours earlier in the crash of a private plane here. His son and the pilot and co-pilot were killed in the crash.

Miller, 42, died at Johnston Emergency Hospital where he was taken with critical injuries after the twin-engine plane plumed to the ground and exploded into flames.

His son, Fred Miller Jr., 20, and Joseph and Paul Laird, pilot and co-pilot of the plane, died in the flames.

They had just taken off from Gen. Mitchell field here late Friday on a holiday hunting trip to Canada when the plane sputtered over the field and plunged to the ground. It missed a house by about 125 feet just north of the field.

Miller, captain of the 1928 Notre Dame football squad and president of the Miller Brewing Co., here, suffered burns over much of his body, a fractured right leg and possible internal injuries. He was thrown clear of the plane, the others were trapped in it.

The craft, owned by the brewery, plunged down shortly after takeoff.

The wealthy brewer graduated from Notre Dame in 1929 and played football as a tackle under the late Knute Rockne on the 1926-28 teams. He had the highest scholastic record ever made by a Notre Dame letterman.

Harriman Win In New York Slimest Margin In Century

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Averell Harriman's plurality over Sen. Irving M. Ives Nov. 2 was 11,125 votes—the narrowest margin in more than a century for a New York gubernatorial election.

The State Board of Canvassers certified Thursday that Harriman polled 2,569,738 votes on the Democratic and Liberal tickets against 2,549,613 for Ives, the Republican candidate.

A total of 5,241,177 votes was cast for governor and lieutenant governor. There were 6,201,155 registered. So Harriman's edge was slightly more than two tenths of 1 per cent of the total vote.

He got 2,296,645 votes on the Democratic ticket and 264,093 Liberal votes. All of Ives' votes were in the Republican column.

2 Sentenced For Enslaving Negroes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Two brothers—prosperous white farmers of west central Alabama—were sentenced in federal court Thursday to 18 months in prison for holding Negroes in slavery.

The sentences were imposed on Oscar Edwin Dial, 34, and his brother, Fred 25. The brothers were convicted in May.

Seven brothers and cousins in Alabama and Mississippi were originally indicted on federal charges of peonage, but the government had asked that the other cases be dismissed.

FINN CABINET RESIGNS

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Premier Urho Kekkonen announced today the resignation of his two-month-old Cabinet. He acted after Parliament refused to approve a bill granting the government special economic powers.

MAMA WATCHES AND WORRIES

TAYLOR, Tex. (AP)—Does the mother of an all-America football player worry?

Yes, said the mother of Rice's ace halfback Dicky Moege. She was worried all the past season because her son needed a haircut every time she saw him play.

Discounts Peace At Any Price

These world systems so vital that gave doubt is cast on the validity of neutralistic argument. Yet we shall continue to demonstrate our respect for the right of self-decision by these neutrals. Moreover, because they hate aggression and condemn wars for conquest, even as we, there is provided a strong foundation upon which we can proceed to build mutual understanding and sympathy.

The original paragraph had read:

"Toward those who stand hesitant between two world camps, we shall continue to demonstrate our respect for their inalienable right of self-decision. Because they hate aggression and condemn wars for conquest, even as we, together we can surely build mutual understanding and sympathy."

The most recent example of neutralism was seen in the signing of the Southeast Asia mutual defense treaty, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines joined in this treaty, but India, Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia stayed aloof.

Act To Force Sons To Pay 96 Cents Month For Father

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Action was started Friday in Dane County Court to force five sons to pay 96 cents a month each toward support of their father. The sons have refused.

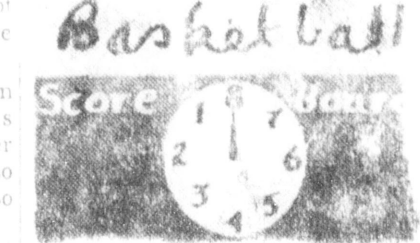

The action was started at Asst. Dist. Atty. William F. Lorenz Jr., at the request of Allen Todler, county public assistance director. A law passed in the 1953 Wisconsin Legislature requires sons and daughters to aid in support of needy parents.

George Scherby, Madison, is receiving $57.17 old age assistance from the county each month. Since his social security payment of $33.40 is turned over to the county, the sons would only have to pay a total of $4.77 a month to remove their father from county relief rolls, Lorenz said.

The sons, Tony, Jack, John, George and Joseph Scherby, live in Cudahy. They are employed and unmarried.

Lorenz said the sons have been contacted repeatedly but have refused to answer requests they contribute to their father's support.

County Judge George Kroncke Jr., ordered the sons to appear here in court Jan. 10 for a hearing on the action.

Ashland Town Meeting Says 'No' To Plan For Changing Name

For the time being, at least, Ashland, Ill., will keep on being Ashland, Ill.

A proposal that the town change its name to North Pole, Ill., with the hopes of attracting toy factories and other businesses, didn't get far Thursday evening when 120 Ashland people met at the high school upon the invitation of the town board led by Mayor Robert Newell.

Raymond Burks, Engineer Here, Dies Thursday

Raymond A. Burks, a resident of Jacksonville since 1945, who was general superintendent and vice president of the Caldwell Engineering company, died at 11 o'clock Thursday night at Our Saviour's hospital where he was taken following a heart attack one week ago. Mr. Burks resided at 735 East Douglas avenue.

Mr. Burks was born Sept. 10, 1907 at Frederick, Okla., the son of Wilford and Tommy Norwood Burks who survive and now live at Davidson, Okla. He was united in marriage Oct. 16, 1948 with Edna Campbell of Jacksonville who survives with two children, Mrs. Paul Taylor of Bowling Green, Mo. and Paul Burks of Louisiana, Mo. There are two grandchildren. Brothers and sisters surviving are Mrs. Halie Spragins and James Burks, both of Davidson, Okla.; Mrs. Helen Breen of Port Worth, Tex.; Robert O. Burks, Tulsa, Okla.; Mrs. Bernice McCoy and Mrs. Glynnasue McKee, both of Wichita Falls, Tex. and Wilford Burks, Jr. of Freeport, Tex. One brother and two sisters preceded him in death.

The deceased was a member of the Jacksonville Elks club and Moose Lodge and of the Harmony Lodge 3, A. F. & A. M. and the Jacksonville chapter 3 Royal Arch Masons.

The body was taken to the Williamson funeral home where services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday with the local Masonic Lodge conducting rites at the funeral home. The Rev. Clair E. Malcomson of the First Baptist church will officiate. After services the body will be taken to Davidson, Okla. for burial. The family will meet friends at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday and requests friends to donate to the Heart Association in lieu of flowers.

Rainbow-DeMolay Joint Dance To Be Next Tuesday

Jacksonville Assembly No. 19 of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls and Louis Henry Clampt Chapter of the Order of DeMolay will have their second annual Holiday Dance at the Jacksonville Masonic Temple on Tuesday, December 21. Boots Brennan's Orchestra will furnish music for dancing from ten to one o'clock.

The hall will be decorated as a basement cabaret with small tables and numerous candles, making use of the overhead green and red streamers and the lighted Christmas tree. These arrangements are being made by Miss Beverly Skinner, local Worthy Adviser of the Rainbow Girls, and Robert Smith, local Master Counselor of the DeMolays.

Refreshments of sandwiches and cookies and a drink will be served throughout the evening by the hostesses, members of the Rainbow Mothers Circle and DeMolay Mothers Circle. DeMolay and Rainbow parents and advisers will act as chaperones.

All members of the co-sponsoring bodies and their dates are invited to attend without cost.

GENE SINGBUSCH IS SURGICAL PATIENT

Eugene Singbusch of 1024 West Walnut street is a patient at Our Saviour's hospital where he underwent surgery the early part of this week. His condition is reported by his family as satisfactory.

HOSPITAL PATIENT

Joseph Barnhart of Jacksonville route 4, is a patient at Our Saviour's hospital.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Ronald Gene Gano and Judith Ann Bagale, both of Jacksonville.

MASONS NOTICE!

All Master Masons are requested to meet at the Masonic Temple at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Dec. 19, to attend funeral of Brother Raymond A. Burks.

Edward Smith, W.M.

Don't forget the fellows who serve you all the year, Postman, milkman, "newsie," Each deserves some cheer.

The meeting was characterized by dignity and a quiet tone, vastly different than "the hot time" that had been predicted earlier. Those attending concluded the session by suggesting that a committee be appointed "to study the problems of Ashland and suggesting ways of bettering the community."

Newell opened the town meeting by observing that "we have a nice little community now, but we're not keeping up with some of our neighbors. Perhaps now would be a good time to assay our troubles and do something about them."

Changing the name of the town had been suggested, he continued, in the hopes of revitalizing the entire community because the name might attract toy manufacturers or Christmas decoration manufacturers because of the advantage of using the postmark "shipped from North Pole" plus the possibility of attracting the many tourists who visit Springfield and New Salem each year.

Would Draw Visitors

"Tourists might like coming to 'North Pole' to see a toyland park with a year-around Santa Claus and his workers," he said.

Newell, a young Notre Dame graduate now in the insurance business in Ashland, noted that a University of Illinois study made three years ago found that Ashland was "in the midst of a downward curve."

"Only 80 of the last 223 graduates from this high school are still in the community," Newell said. "We have reared and educated them—and now they are gone. In the midst of a great national construction boom, only eight new houses have been built here in the last five years."

"National TV Show"

The audience then heard a recording that depicted what might happen to the community in the event the name was changed to North Pole. It told of new industries that used little water, big payrolls, swamped postoffice and many tourists, with a national TV show originating there on Christmas eve, 1955. Newell declined to tell newspaper reporters at the meeting who made the record or how much it cost.

Afterwards the crowd, upon Newell's invitation, clustered into 16 small groups. After 10 minutes discussion a spokesman reported the sentiment of each group.

Only one spokesman said his group favored the name change.

"A Ridiculous Name"

Others said that it was "a ridiculous name that would make us look foolish," that it would involve many legal changes, and that there was "nothing certain that a name change would result in factories or a tourist attraction. It is only a possibility."

Vigorous applause followed such terse reports as "Ashland is good enough for us."

Newell observed "It is obvious that the North Pole idea is dead. But we still have problems and I feel that we should do something about them."

The crowd agreed, and it was decided that a committee representing all phases of community endeavor be appointed to work toward solutions.

Big Project At Beardstown Due To Start Soon

BEARDSTOWN—A. W. Leupold, vice president and assistant-secretary of the C. R. Meyer and Sons company, engineer and contracting firm of Oakshosh, Wis. that has the contract to build the new flood protection wall at Beardstown was in this city Thursday making arrangements to begin operations after January 1.

He was accompanied by A. E. Wald, who will be superintendent of the project and W. A. Milbrandt, engineer in charge.

They consulted with U. S. Army engineers concerning the project.

Engineers Have Office

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has set up an office at 105 West Main street, the former Meyer grocery building, which they will maintain here during the construction period.

John M. Gano is the resident engineer here. Personnel in his office include Arnold Leistritz, assistant resident engineer, and Glenn Colwell, office engineer both of whom are here now and Lloyd Gregg, clerk who will be transferred here later from the Indianapolis office of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Mr. Gano has purchased a home at 1113 Washington street where he and his wife have moved. They came here from Washington, Ill.

Mr. Colwell has purchased a home at 1415 Clay street and he and his family moved here from Peoria. He formerly lived in Beardstown.

Mr. Leistritz does not plan to move immediately.

Contractors Seek Office

Mr. Leupold of the firm of contractors said he was here looking for office space for his firm.

The firm is not prepared to take applications from workers yet and won't be until after the first of the year, they announced. Many applicants are already calling at the engineers' office, but the contractors said today they won't be prepared to accept applications until after January 1.

Local Creamery Plant Sold To Sugar Creek Co.

Sale of the Peoria Creamery Company plants in Jacksonville and Peoria to the Sugar Creek Creamery Company was announced Friday. The Sugar Creek Creamery Company, a nationally known organization, has headquarters at Danville, Ill.

It is understood that the Jacksonville plant will continue to churn butter and that immediate steps are being taken to double the volume of the plant with further increases in the near future.

The local plant will, as in the past, continue to buy cream, eggs and poultry.

The Peoria Creamery Company, or as it was first known in Jacksonville, the Jacksonville Creamery, was started in 1900 as a cooperative venture. It was purchased by the Peoria Creamery Company in 1911, and has been in continuous operation since that time, being the first churning plant in the city.

There will be no change in the personnel of the plant, officials said in announcing change of ownership of the creamery.

NLRB Upholds 'Hot Cargoes' Clause Validity

WASHINGTON (P)—The National Labor Relations Board Friday upheld 3-2 the validity of "hot cargo" clauses in labor contracts. But it ruled that unions cannot enforce such clauses if an employer repudiates his agreement.

The "hot cargo" clause is an agreement by an employer that his workers may refuse to handle freight or other materials going to or from another employer with whom the union has a labor dispute.

Such clauses came into use after Congress sought through the Taft-Hartley Law to prohibit secondary boycotts. That law prohibits a union from seeking to get a second employer's workers to refuse to handle materials for a primary employer with whom the union has a dispute.

Unions, in asking "hot cargo" clauses, have taken a stand that the T-H law did not bar an agreement with a secondary employer against the primary employer.

Ice Cream Bars Reward Children In Safety Drive

Pupils in eight rooms at elementary schools in this city were treated to ice cream bars as their reward for obtaining several thousand signatures in connection with S-D (Safe Driving Day) on Wednesday. The pupils were given safety pledges which they circulated among adults who drive motor vehicles.

Patrolman Wilbur Stafford, in charge of S-D Day activities of the police department, announced the following winners in the school contest:

Miss Elizabeth Trotter's fourth grade room at Jefferson school, 2-285 signers; Nancy Pierson's fourth grade at Lincoln school, 177 signers; Dorcas Callahan's fourth grade room at North Jacksonville school, 295 signers; Miss Strubbe's fourth grade room at Lafayette school, 419 signers; Miss Koltermann's room at the Salem Lutheran school, first through fourth grades, 257 signers; Sister Mary Eleanor's seventh grade room at Our Saviour's school, winner; Mr. Murphy's room at Franklin school, 545 signers; Miss Ruyle's fourth and fifth grades at Washington school, winner.

The police department reported that on S-D Day a number of drivers were rewarded with gifts for courtesy. These excellent drivers included Preston Turner, Waverly; Dr. Vincent Leith, 839 Grove street; Homer McDonald, 833 South East street; Jack Rueter, Bluffs; Gerald Christison, 406 South East street; W. W. Cunningham, Roodhouse; Andrew Cobb, 716 South East street; Vernon Fouts, Chapin route 2, and Wendell Hocking, Franklin.

$319,335 Pledged To Our Saviour's Hospital; To Work Toward Goal

Our Saviour's Hospital building fund reached a total of $319,335 on Thursday afternoon when the volunteer salesmen in the campaign met at the Dunlap Hotel to make their fourth and last scheduled report of progress. Edward C. Shultz, general chairman presided.

Sister M. Maguala, administrator of Our Saviour's Hospital expressed the appreciation of the Sisters to all those who have served and given in the campaign. She said, "Our goal of $750,000 has not yet been reached and we must continue our work until this minimum objective has been achieved. It is absolutely essential that the present outmoded section of the hospital be replaced in the near future if Our Saviour's is to continue to provide the people of this area proper care. We are encouraged in the knowledge that so many people have recognized the urgency of the need as they have indicated through their support of the building fund program."

Reports of Divisions

A breakdown of the total report by divisions is as follows: Memorial Gifts, Wilbur H. Kurtz and Sam Palk, co-chairmen, $111,625; Medical, Dr. Alfred G. Schultz, $82,950; Scott County, Mrs. Mary C. Rockwood, Paul Legman and Albert Herring, co-chairmen, $13,204; Six Star, Gordon May, chairman, $22,860; Town and Country, William E. Burns, chairman, $29,623; and Women's Mrs. Charles M. Ryan, chairman, $33,483.

The community reports included in the Town and Country division are as follows: Alexander, George Fulton, chairman, $2,951; Arenzville, Leo Jones, chairman, $27
